

In loving memory of
NORMAN BARNES
17 November 1941 – 12 July 2026

My Dad

Dad loved to celebrate.

Some of his earliest memories were of his family eating, singing, dancing. He loved to meet people and share their stories, this took him across the world with his love of travel. Through travel he met my mum, Diane. Together, they explored the world, they built a home and started a family.

At the heart of his family was a love of celebration. Dad loved to buy good food and wine to create wonderful meals to share with family and friends.

He was fond of saying "You don't see any hearses with towbars - you can't take it with you when you go". He lived his life by this motto and generously shared his time, table and stories.

On this day, Dad would want us to be happy. To remember him fondly, and to celebrate his life in the way he enjoyed the most.

Goodbye Dad, and cheers. Thank you for your love, lessons and memories. Tristan
